

Stop the Attacks Against Third World and Oppressed Peoples

All across the world, US-led imperialism is becoming more vicious and destructive.

Under Obama, the US has stepped up drone attacks. Obama has deported more “illegal immigrants” than any other president in US history. By sponsoring militias in places like Libya and Syria, Obama has pursued a program to ruin countries which run afoul of Washington. US prison populations continue to rise and oppressed people continue to be terrorized by the police and racist vigilantes. All of this while conducting massive surveillance programs and serving those who profit from environmental destruction.

Don't be fooled. Obama is nothing more than PR spokesman for capitalist white power. While the Democrats and Republicans are preparing for another election-cycle spectacle of “hope and change,” the world continues to be torn in two.

MLK Jr. called the US the world's “greatest purveyor of violence.” Today these words are especially true.

Mobilize for a better world through revolution

MLK Jr. was notable not for his adherence to non-violence, but for his ability to mobilize the masses into collective action. That same power of collective mobilization can be used today to fight for a better world. But the sooner we quit buying into saviors in suits, the better. We need to organize ourselves for revolution instead.

A solution will come never from the imperialist state. Nor will it come from voting. Instead, we need to organize to meet our own needs, to seize power away from the imperialists, and to unite with our natural allies: the world's oppressed and exploited majority.

The dream can be fulfilled and the US can be brought to justice. But it will take more than hope, good intentions, or righteous indignation. Instead, we need a combination of revolutionary theory guiding revolutionary action, devoted occupational revolutionaries with the support of the masses, and local and global anti-imperialist revolutionary movements.

Learn more: RevolutionaryAim.org

Follow @MTWNewsWire

Stop the Attacks Against Third World and Oppressed Peoples

All across the world, US-led imperialism is becoming more vicious and destructive.

Under Obama, the US has stepped up drone attacks. Obama has deported more “illegal immigrants” than any other president in US history. By sponsoring militias in places like Libya and Syria, Obama has pursued a program to ruin countries which run afoul of Washington. US prison populations continue to rise and oppressed people continue to be terrorized by the police and racist vigilantes. All of this while conducting massive surveillance programs and serving those who profit from environmental destruction.

Don't be fooled. Obama is nothing more than PR spokesman for capitalist white power. While the Democrats and Republicans are preparing for another election-cycle spectacle of “hope and change,” the world continues to be torn in two.

MLK Jr. called the US the world's “greatest purveyor of violence.” Today these words are especially true.

Mobilize for a better world through revolution

MLK Jr. was notable not for his adherence to non-violence, but for his ability to mobilize the masses into collective action. That same power of collective mobilization can be used today to fight for a better world. But the sooner we quit buying into saviors in suits, the better. We need to organize ourselves for revolution instead.

A solution will never come from the imperialist state. Nor will it come from voting. Instead, we need to organize to meet our own needs, to seize power away from the imperialists, and to unite with our natural allies: the world's oppressed and exploited majority.

The dream can be fulfilled and the US can be brought to justice. But it will take more than hope, good intentions, or righteous indignation. Instead, we need a combination of revolutionary theory guiding revolutionary action, devoted occupational revolutionaries with the support of the masses, and local and global anti-imperialist revolutionary movements.

Learn more: RevolutionaryAim.org

Follow @MTWNewsWire

